

PROGRAM 01 Manu by Air: 4D / 3N

Cusco-Boca Manu-Tambo Blanquillo-Boca

Manu-Cusco

In a charter airplane we depart from Cuzco Airport to land on one of the most remote rainforest in the world. From the air we will have an excellent panoramic view of the Inca's Sacred Valley. Arriving to Boca Manu landing strip you'll travel through the Madre de Dios River in a motorized dugout canoe until we reach the strategically located Tambo Blanquillo Lodge. The sites, that are just minutes away from the lodge, include the only accessible Macaw Clay Lick in the area as well as two magnificent Oxbow Lakes where we hope to find a family of river otters preening on dead logs, jaguars roaming and more than 400 species of birds.

PROGRAM 02: 5D / 4N

Nature Expedition

Cusco-Boca Manu-Tambo Banquillo-Colorado-Puerto Maldonado-Cusco

From Cusco we will aboard a small charter airplane to the entrance of Manu National Park; one of the last virgin rainforest left in the world. From there a motorized dugout canoe will take us to Tambo Blanquillo Lodge where we will experience one of the most intense birding activities in the rainforest: the Blanquillo Macaw Clay Lick. Rowing on virgin Oxbow Lakes, climbing a very safe 40 Mt. Canopy Tower and walking on pristine rainforest ecosystems will give the visitor the jungle experience they always dreamt about.

PROGRAM 04

Manu by Land: 6D / 5N

Cusco-Boca Manu-Tambo Banquillo-Colorado-Puerto Maldonado-Cusco

This 6 day tour engages you in a road trip from the Andean Highlands of Cusco, traveling through Peru's different ecosystems, to our lodge located in the lowland forest, where endemic species dwell in seasonally flooded forests, river edges and cochas, like the Emperor monkey. Moreover, you will have the excitement to undergo fulfilling activities like rowing a small catamaran in the Oxbow Lakes. A family of giant river otters usually fish and play on floating logs and 150 macaws eat clay in the nearby lick. Truly a nature paradise.
